

If you cut an apple in half and compare each half, you will find they are the same.
That is symmetry. Try and draw the other half of the apple.