

Directions:

Print on cardstock.

Cut out this part of the pull-tab book as one piece. Use the brown area for your student to dictate what he has learned about hibernation. You could also use it to list animals that hibernate.

Cut out the pocket piece on the next page. Cut slit with an exacto knife. Add a tiny bit of glue around the outside edges (but NOT at the top). Glue down to your lapbook or scrapbook. After the glue is dry, bend the hibernation piece so that it fits down into the pocket through the slit.

You should be able to pull it up to view your student's answers, and push it back down for safe keeping.
