

Someday I'm going to have a store
With a tinkly bell hung over the door,
With real glass cases and counters wide,
And drawers all spilly with things inside.
There'll be a little of everything;
Bolts of calico; balls of string;
Jars of peppermint; tins of tea;
Pots and kettles and crockery;
Seeds in packets, scissors bright;
Kegs of sugar, brown and white;
Sarsaparilla for picnic lunches,
Bananas and rubber boots in bunches.
I'll fix the windows and dust each shelf,
And take the money in all by myself,
It will be my store and I will say:
"What can I do for your today?"
by Rachel Field

Cut poem rectangle out. Fold in half like a hot-dog (vertically). Let your student add her own illustrations around the border of the poem. Cut out cover piece and paste on front of the book (or let your student design his the cover however he wants).