

Young George Washington cut down his father's cherry tree.

Abraham Lincoln was the tallest president.

TRUE OR FALSE?

Abraham Lincoln read books about George Washington.

George Washington was called
"the father of many nations."

Abraham Lincoln was the tallest president.

TRUE. Abraham Lincoln was 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Young George Washington cut down his father's cherry tree.

FALSE. A minister named Mason Locke Weems made up that story to teach children to tell the truth.

Abraham Lincoln read books about George Washington

TRUE. Abraham Lincoln loved to read. He also read Aesop's Fables, the Bible, newspapers, and any books that teachers left for him.

George Washington was called "the father of many nations."

FALSE. George Washington is called "the father of our country."

Assembly:

Cut out book as one piece. Fold each triangle under. Fold book in half so that "True or False" is on the cover. When your student opens the book, he should have four flaps that he can manipulate and write under.