

Have student glue provided definition into appropriate matchbook and then draw a picture on matchbook cover.

Cut books out. Fold on lines (matchbook style)

Aa

Pahoehoe

Rough and jagged lava with tiny spines. They are also known as clinkers. Rough surface is hard on feet. If you slip and fall you would cut hands, feet or clothes.

Often looks like coils of thick rope. After it cools the surface is smooth and easy to walk across. When the pahoehoe cools under water it may look like pillows.