

Cut out the circle accordion fold as one piece. Fold back and forth like an accordion. Glue the back of the last piece in your lapbook.

On the front, cut and paste the image provided. It will be bigger than the circle. For another option, you could let your student draw a picture of the wizard on the front.

The Wizard of Oz pretended to look different for Dorothy and each of her friends.

To Dorothy he was a head.
To the Scarecrow he was a lovely lady.

To the Tin Woodman he appeared as a beast, and to the Cowardly lion he was a ball a fire.

He asked them to kill the Wicked Witch of the West before he would help them.
